WORKING FOR UNDERGROUND WIRES. ACTION OF THE PRINCIPAL TELEGRAPH, TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC-LIGHT COMPANIES.

The Gramme Electrical Company has taken the first steps toward a thorough examination of the question of underground electrical communication with a view to putting some feasible system into operation. At the company's office yesterday a meeting was held of representatives of the various telegraph, telephone and electric-lighting companies, to take preliminary action. A general response was made to invitations of attendance issued to the Baltimore and Ohio, the Mutual Union, the American Rapid, the Postal, the Baukers and Merchants' and the Gold and Stock Telegraph Companies, the Metropolitan Telegraph and Telephone Company, the American District Telegraph Companes, the Law Telegraph Company, and the seven electric lighting companies embraced in the Gramme organization. D. H. Bates, the representative of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was unable to attend the meeting on account of sickness. Professor Henry Morton, of the Stevens Institute of Technology, was present.

J. P. Davis, vice-president of the Metropolitan Telegraph and Telephone Company, was chosen chairman. Professor Morton expressed a favorable opinion of the proposed movement and the only discussion that took place was over the details of the resolutions offered by R. R. Hazard, which were finally adopted in the following form:

Resolved: That, in the opinion of this meeting, the time has arrived when it is expedient to make an exhaustive examination of all devices and inventions pertaining to the subject of underground electrical communication, with a view to determine whether any inclusive system can be found which will enable the electrical corporations to establish such communications.

public desire to relieve the thoroughfares from poles and wires is quite in accord with the wishes of the corporations, and that the true interest of the shareholder is to be found in a permanent, inclusive and protected system.

Resolved, That the problem presented to the corporations and the electrical engineers is complex and difficult, and in the opinion of this meeting has not yet been fully solved: that any system to be adopted must combine the highest efficiency with reasonable economy and serve inclusive interests: that wille it is perhaps possible for trunk-interests: that wille it is perhaps possible for trunk-interests: that will it is perhaps to say the present state of the art for services connecting every house in the city so to do, without an expenditure so wast as to be prohibitory in most instances, and that therefore hasty compulsory legislation is to be deprecated as being destructive to useful and indispensable public conveniences.

Resided, Text a committee be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, either now or here after at his option, consisting of one delegate from each electrical corporation invited to be present at this meeting, the Governor of the State and Mayor of this city, with power to add to its number, which committee shall be authorized to examine the subject in respect to its scientific, mechanical, legal and financial considerations, with power to adopt such course of procedure as may appear advisable to it, after such examination; and with the approval of the respective corporations, form a company in the collective interest, and consider such inventions and devices in that behalf as may prove to be indispensable to a successful installation.

THE RAMSDEN CASE SUBMITTED.

THE RAMSDEN CASE SUBSITIED.

Dr. W. W. Strew was the first witness to testify in the Ramsden abandonment case in the Hariem Police Court yesterday. He stated that he had examined Mrs. Ramsden and found ununstakable evidence of her having given birth to children, and had also discovered a sear on the lower part of her back, which was, in his judgment, the result of a wound inflicted with some sharp instrument. Dr. Rudelf Tauszky corroborated Dr. Strew's statement.

The lady at whose residence Mrs. Ramsden had boarded in East Forty-second-st., while her husband occupied rooms on the or posite side of the street, then took the stand. She said that Mrs. Ramsden had boarded the refor some time, and she would be more than willing to have her do so again. She had bired the rooms under the name of Madame Charles, but had explained that Mr. Ramsden was her husband. The witness said that she had received a visit from Mr. Ramsden, who told her that Mrs. Ramsden was not a fit person to live in the house. He also told her that his wife had been sentenced to penal servitude, but had been smart enough to be transferred to the hospital instead. The witness had never known of Mrs. Ramsden's watching her husband with an opera glass from her house and if she had done so would have been informed of it by her servants. Several certificates were offered by Lawyer Rushton in evidence, one from the widow Durrs who had boarded the twins. Cross examined, he said he had befriended Mrs. Ramsden. He believed her story and had been in erested in her and believed Mr. Ramsden to be an unmitigated rased.

Ransden jumped to his feet at this statement and exclaimed that he had been insulted. Mr. Carvalho was rebuked by Justice Herrman and withdrew the remark with an apology to the Court. He continued that, counting his time he had befrieuded the lady to the extent of about $1,000. It had been freely given

Mr. Rushton then made a formal motion for a judgment for the plaintiff on the ground that there had been no evidence to disprove that she had been abandoned in New-York, or that she had demanded support from her husband. Justice Herrman reserved his decision.

SURVIVORS OF THE PILOT'S BRIDE.

Three sailors of the American bark Pilot's Bride arrived here yesterday from Cape Town, South Africa, The Pilot's Bride sailed from New London on a whaling veyage on April 27, 1880, and on October 3, 1881, she was totally wrecked on a reef near Desolation Island. Captain Fuller and his crew, lacking four sailors, who were washed overboard, escaped with a few provisions. Reaching land, a lot of old canvas, about 1,200 pounds of bread and some other provisions were found, left by the bark Trinity, which was wrecked near there two years ago. Shelters were constructed, and the crew saved two barrels of flour from their own vessel. The island being bare of any vegetation except grass, no food was to be gathered except by killing some of the many rabbits, while the only fuel obtainable was blubber, which tainted the food. The crew remained at this point until the indidle of November, and then made a tedious journey of 150 miles along the coast to Three Island Harbor, where was found an old house and two bottles, in the latter of which records of the wreck were placed for preservation and left there. The crew then rowed across to the mainland and walked 40 miles to Pott's Harbor, and later to Norton's Harbor, where the vessel had left a lot of provisions some time before. Here was constructed a rade building where the men remained for a long time, hoping for rehef and undergoing various hardships. Six of the crew we coming discontented, stole a boat and provisions and wandered off. About a month afterward, when almost starved, they returned and the captain exiled them for the time being to an island about a mile away, giving them a few provisions. On September 6 a vessel appeared and took them to Cape Town, whence they speedily started for home in different vessels. SURVIVORS OF THE PILOT'S BRIDE.

TROUBLE IN A LAW AND ORDER SOCIETY. TROUBLE IN A LAW AND ORDER SOCIETY.

There is a serious division in the ranks of the Law and Order Society of Long Island City. Some of the members were desirous of combining with the Temperance Society of Hunter's Point to secure a reduction in the number of liquor licenses to be issued by the Excise Commissioners of the city. Others, led by the Rev. Mr. Haines, of the Dutch Reformed Church, Astoria, protested against the proposal, He said the organization was formed for the purpose of enforcing the laws as they stood, and not to agitate total abstinence. The reverend gentleman was sustained by a large majority of the members of the society, but his opponents felt so badly over their defeat that their leader, F. A. Whittemore, tendered his resignation, declaring that the society was afraid to join hands with the temperance people.

MAGGIE KEPPEL ACQUITTED. The trial of the woman Maggie Keppel for abducting the little girl Lizzie Seiden, who was taken from in front of her father's house in Carlton-ave., Brooklyn, on August 28, 1882, was concluded yesterday. The evidence showed that the child was in the woman's possession from the evening of the day she was abducted, but failed to show that she took the child from its home. Several medical experts pronounced the prisoner insane. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

EXAMINER THORNE ACQUITTED.

The trial of Henry A. Thorne was finished yester-day, in the United States Court, Crimmal Branch, after having lasted thirteen days. General Tremain Thorne's counsel, addressed the jury for three hours.

evidence for the prosecution. Judge Benedict explained the law to the jury briefly. The jury, after an absence of thirty minutes, returned with a verdict of not guilty. Mr. Thorne's wife and two children were in the court-room all day, and were much affected when the verdict was announced. Mr. Thorne's beard, which was brown when he was arrested, has turned gray. The principal witnesses for the prosecution were connected with the firm of importers in relation to whose importations the charge was made.

MANAGEMENT OF THE DEIECTIVE FORCE.

Rumors reached the ears of the Police Commissioners a day or two ago that petty jealousses had been excited among the officers of the Department because the Commissioners designated Inspector Byrnes to lead the sitack on the gamblers. President French yesterday summoned the four Inspectors to his office for consultation on the subject. Two years ago, Mr. French said, be had given urgent directions to the inspectors and captains to enforce the laws against gambling, and these orders had been repeated several times. The results had not been satisfactory. Inspector Byrnes expressed his belief that he could enforce the gambling laws if the Board would sustain him, and was directed to go ahead according to his best judgment. A general conversation between the inspectors and Mr. French followed, and entire harmony was restored. Before the consultation ended, however, another subject was introduced on which there was disagreement. It was a plan much talked about several months ago, for placing the precinct detectives under the control of the Chief of the Detective Burean. In favor it was argued that if all the detectives in the city were acting under orders from one man, criminals could be tracked easier and quicker, more stolen property could be recovered, and many robberies could be prevented. On the other hand it was said that there would be inevitable conflicts of authority between Inspector Byrnes and the police captains, because the captains would need to have some control of the precinct detectives. The Police Commissioners will probably take some decisive action, either for of against the centralization of the detectives, at the meeting of the Board next Tuesday.

Ciro went ivito the inquiry room, and in his absence the strange man approached the little girl and telling her that the uncle had sent him for ner, he took the child's small trunk and she went with him to Centreville, N. J., where the rascal committed a brutal outrage upon her. The screams of the child attracted the attention of a pollogeman, who rescued the little girl and arrested the ruffian after a struggle.

When taken to court in Jersey City, yesterday, the girl's story was learned and she was speedily restored to her uncle. A charge of outrage will be made against the Italian kidnapper, and a hearing will take place in the Jersey City Police Court this

JUMBO AND THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE. JUMBO AND THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

Jumbo has a great dislike for steamboat traveling, and to avoid the necessity of his crossing the East River on a ferry-boat Mr. Barnum has asked the Bridge trustees that the elephant may be allowed to cross the Brooklyn Bridge. Mr. Barnum said yesterday that he would pay $5,000 as toll for the use of the Bridge. He has written the following letter to President Kingsley:

DEAR SIR: Last year we came near losing Jumbo thron the insecurity of the ferryboat. Now I write to ask ye consent that he may quietly and sceretly be permitt to walk over the Bridge late Saturday night.

As to the torn letter, said to have been formed of two letters pasted together, Mrs. Ramsden said she could not explain how it got torn, but that it was a common thing for Mr. Ramsden to write in two languages in the same letter.

O. N. Carvalho testified that he had been an expert in handwriting for some seven years and had appeared as such in all the prominent cases. He had examined the letter, and the whole of it, both in German and English, was written with the same he was severely burned about the head. It is thought that flame penetrated the car, destroying the tympanum. Coroner Newcombe will make an investigation.

THE LAWS UPON LUNACY.

Dr. Stephen Smith, the State Commissioner of Lunacy, read a paper last evening at the Academy of Medicine on the lunacy laws of the State of New-York in relation to the confinement and discharge of patients. The meeting began by the election of E. H. in relation to the confinement and discharge of patients. The meeting began by the election of E. H. Benn and Dr. E. C. Spitzka as trustees. Dr. Smith first gave a history of the old English law, and spoke of the sufferings endured by the insane during the last century for lack of protective laws. Coming to nearer times, he said that the first hospital for the insane in this city was established in 1791, and in 1899 it became a State asylum. In 1845 the law requiring each patient to be examined by two competent physicians, and a certificate to be signed by the examiners, was passed, and competent State supervisors were appointed. Since then there has been a steady improvement both in the treatment and in the care of the insane, "And now that it is a recognized fact that insanity is a disease," said Dr. Smith, "and, like other diseases, is susceptible of cure or amelioration, the State acknowledges this fact and makes its laws with this point in view. Now our laws not only consider the good of seciety and the safety of others, but are made for the best interest of the patients themselves."

The lecturer spoke of the new amendment now before lecturer spoke of the new amendment now before The lecturer spoke of the new amendment now before the Legislature, which would give more freedom to the superintendents of asylums, and which asked that patients might be sent out on trial when the change is considered beneficial. At present, he said, the medical superintendent is legally responsible for the conduct of any patient he may discharge, and this fact deters many from sending patients away when the change might prove a most important factor in their improvement.

THE DAYS OF VOLUNTEER FIREMEN.

About forty members of the old Valley Forge Engine Company No. 46, of the Volunteer Fire Department, met for their annual dinner, at Martinelli's, last evening, on the twenty-third anniversary of the organization of the company. A pleasant time was had in reviving memories of the days when the "fire laddies" pulled the engines instead of horses or steam, and the engines were "goose-necks," "hay-ricks" or "teapose," instead of the present improved apparatus. George A. Nourse presided. These were also present the vice-presidents, George A. Lowerre, John W. Jones, Samuel E. Hisford; Secretaries Charles W. Taylor, W. H. Boyd, W. H. Cooper and James Conking. Speeches were made by Edward L. Cobb, Dr. Whitehead and Mr. Lowerre.

A HOME DRUGGIST

TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, State and country, and among all people, as

chusetts druggists should be of interest to every sufferer :

RHEUMATISM, of Rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took ATER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your Sarsaparilla, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicenity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public.
